ABOUT JORD

Jord designs, manufactures, commissions and services bespoke plant and systems for a wide range of industries in the energy and resource sectors. Jord is a privately-owned company that has over five decades of steady, organic growth.

Jord's success is in part due to our size - small enough to be nimble, big enough to be trusted globally. To help solve technical challenges, we offer high-quality modular and turnkey systems, offering our customers innovation, value and reliability, all with personal care and service.

JORD ENVIRONMENTAL TRUST

We've been dedicated to preserving the planet since the launch of the Jord Environment Trust (JET) in 2007. Over the years, we've distributed more than $2.5 million in support of biodiversity preservation and other environmental causes.

Our commitment extends beyond funding; we're actively involved in the field, providing nearly 5,000 hours of pro-bono technical and 'boots on the ground' support services to two incredible partners:

Bush Heritage Australia – a leading conservation not-for-profit protecting ecosystems and wildlife in landscapes across Australia.

Conservation International – an American not-for-profit whom we have supported in the establishment & maintenance of the Bintan Marine Park Authority. This marine environment of 1,400 sq km has now been granted permanent protection by the Indonesian government.

Innovation drives us forward, and we're constantly pushing the limits of sustainability in the mining industry. By developing advanced technologies that conserve water and energy, boost productivity, and eliminate tailings dams, we're shaping a more sustainable future for all.

EMPLOYEE ENGAGEMENT

Jord is proud to be an employer of choice, with over 90% of our people recommending it as a great place to work. Our talent retention rate (also above 90%), and an average tenure of more than six years reflect a strong, enduring culture. More than 100 team members have been with Jord for over a decade, a testament to the value we place on long-term growth and opportunity.

We support our people through flexible working arrangements and continuous learning and development programs designed to empower professional and personal success.

Our engagement score of 85% exceeds that of the top 10% of companies globally using Culture Amp (6,500+ organisations).

In 2025, Jord's workforce represented 31 nationalities and 34 languages, with an average tenure nearly twice the industry standard, demonstrating the strength of our inclusive, connected global team.

ENGAGEMENT INITIATIVES

Jord's flat organisational structure fosters open communication, mutual respect, and collaboration across all levels.

Our Regional Conferences, held in Australia, the Americas, Malaysia, Singapore, and India bring together key leaders from across the globe to strengthen connections and reinforce the value of working as one integrated team.

Each year on 30 August, Jord teams worldwide mark Jord's Birthday, a celebration of our collective achievements and the innovation and collaboration that drive our continued growth.

Ongoing learning and development remain central to our culture. Regular workshops and training programs help our people build leadership capability and enhance skills in communication, conflict resolution, and beyond.

Our culture is also enriched by regular team-building initiatives and social events, from cricket matches, office celebrations and team lunches to Pizza Thursdays and Mad Mondays, fostering connection and engagement across all our offices.
